Ike Refuses To Turn Over Secret Reports To Solons

Declares Same Data Available To Legislators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower refused today to give Congress a look at two secret reports on the national defense situation. He said congressional committees had access to the same information and implied they could draw their own conclusions from it.

A Senate Preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Johnson (D-Tex.) has been trying for several weeks to get reports by Dr. James R. Killian, the President's scientific adviser, and the Gaither Committee.

Critical Of Defense Effort

Both are said to be sharply critical of the present defense effort. There have been published stories that the Gaither report, drawn up by a presidential panel appointed last spring, portrays the United States as facing the gravest danger in its history.

But James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, has said the report does not depict this country in a position of military weakness "at this time."

The President told Johnson, the Senate's Democratic leader, "Throughout our history the president has withheld information whenever he found that what was sought was confidential or that its disclosure would jeopardize the nation's safety or the proper functioning of our government."

Advice Confidential

Eisenhower went on to say that groups appointed to advise him do their work with the understanding that their advice will be kept confidential. "Only by preserving the confidential nature of such advice," the President said, "is it possible to assemble such groups or for the president to avail himself of such advice."

He told Johnson the information given Killian and the Gaither committee "is essentially the same information which has been and is available to congressional committees studying the same problems."

"On the basis of these facts," the President wrote, "the panels drew their own conclusions and made recommendations which I have been weighing along with recommendations of other advisers within and without the government."

60 Hurt As Tank Cars Explode

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Jan. 22 (AP)—A thundering explosion shattered a line of chemical tank cars moving through a suburban railroad yard today, injuring at least 60 persons.

The blast ripped a crater 40 feet deep and 150 feet across. Authorities said damage could run to a million dollars.

The area was sparsely settled. Richard Billson, 20, and John Geeran, 64, both of Niagara Falls and employees of the Niagara Junction Railroad, were the only two known to be injured seriously.

The cause was not determined immediately. Some pupils at the Hyde Park Elementary School were injured. Windows were smashed in eight other schools — some as far as three miles away.

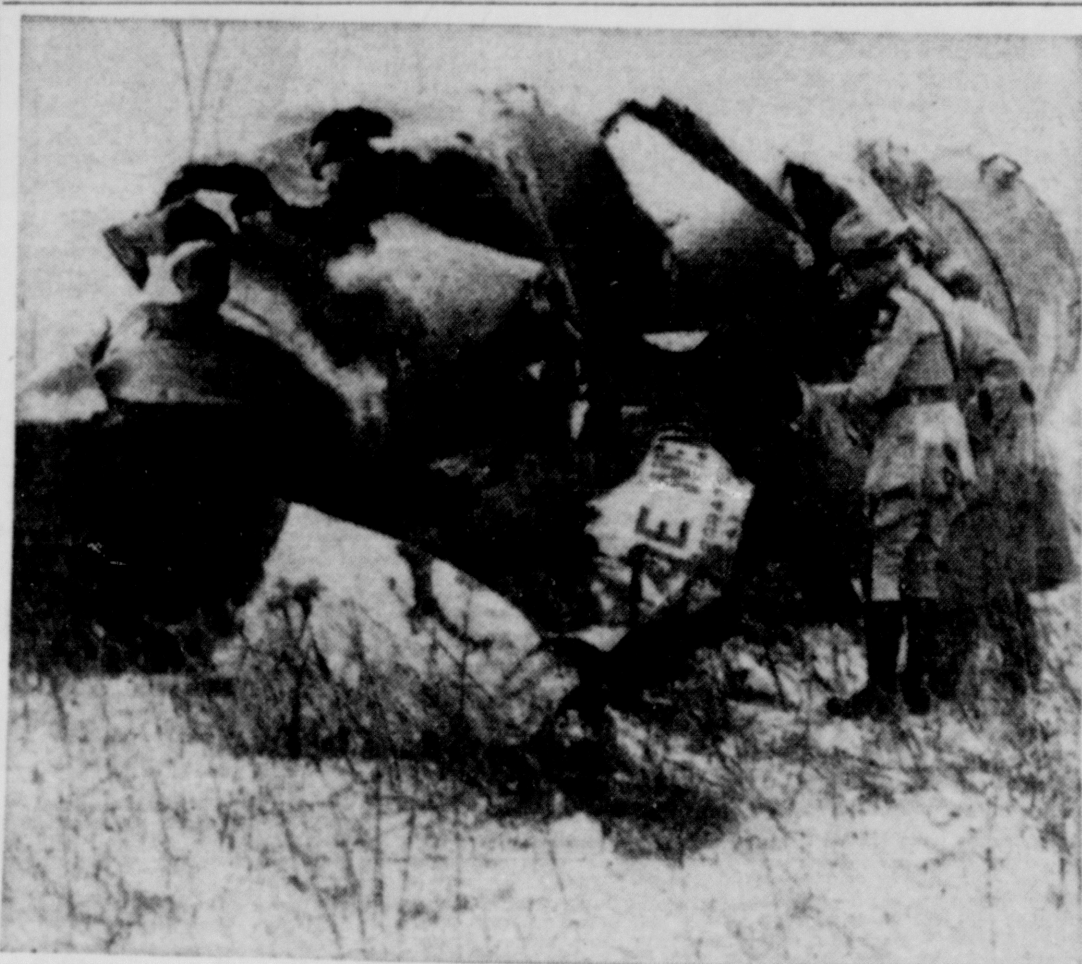

The explosion caused severe damage to nearby houses, ripped utility lines off the poles, collapsed porches and loosened brick veneer.

Explosion Kills Seven

BOMBAY, Jan. 22 (AP)—Seven persons were killed and 30 injured in Hyderabad City today by explosion of a gas cylinder meant for filling toy balloons at the All India Industrial Exhibition.

Explosion Demolishes Railroad Car

A demolished railroad car lies in a field almost 300 feet from the spot where an explosion in a line of chemical tank cars wrecked a huge railroad yard section at Niagara Falls, N. Y., yesterday. The blast ripped a crater 40 feet deep and 150 feet across, shook a wide area and injured at least 60 persons.

Good Progress Made In Field Of Antimissiles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Excellent progress toward the development of two weapons to destroy enemy missiles was reported Wednesday by Maj. Gen. Robert J. Wood, the Army's deputy chief for research and development.

Wood disclosed that: 1. Components for the antimissile Zeus, designed to intercept long-range ballistic missiles, are now in being. Previously the Defense Department has said only that the Zeus is under development.

2. Another antimissile called Plato is being developed for use in the field, in defense of our field armies. Up to now the Pentagon has said only that Plato antimissile is under development, without disclosing its intended use.

Wood, in a speech prepared for a meeting of Army's Medical Service Corps at nearby Ft. Myer, Va., said the Zeus is the answer to the intercontinental ballistic missile.

"Components of Zeus are now in being and the complete system is under development," he said. "We shall then be able—if we must—to parry the ICBM with a fatal punch."

Wood said the Plato missile system will make use of some components of the Zeus missile system, and will be just as effective in its own area of operations.

"While most information on the Plato and Zeus systems is still classified, I can assure you that we are making excellent progress in both phases of our antimissile missile research and development," he said.

Rocket Ship To Be Tested Over Calif.-Utah Range

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22 (AP)—The experimental rocket ship X15, expected to swoosh a man into space next year, will be tested over a range stretching from California to Utah, it was disclosed today.

Two of the pilots who will fly the craft told a news conference the flight patch will be over dry lake beds extending between Edwards AFB in California's Mojave desert and Wendover AFB in Utah.

The X15 is expected to soar hundreds of miles high at speeds of thousands of miles an hour in research flights.

Some details of its program were discussed by Air Force Capt. Ivan C. Kincheloe and Joseph Walker of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Bride Skips Out With Groom's Life Savings

MELUN, France, Jan. 22 (AP)—All the friends and relatives gathered around the table, and the groom waited for the bride to cut the cake. She couldn't be found.

Camille Tourret, a widower with nine children, found that Mrs. Marie-Louise Thomas Tourret—his bride of half an hour—had made off with his life savings and a jacket, silver brooch and silk purse belonging to one of the guests.

The bride hasn't been seen since. Today she was sentenced, in absentia, to four months in jail.

Klan Leader Fights Charge

LUMBERTON, N.C., Jan. 22 (AP)—The Rev. James Cole, Carolina Ku Klux Klan leader, took the first step today in what appeared to be a fight against facing North Carolina charges of inciting a riot. The South Carolina preacher posted $1,000 bond at his home town of Marion, S.C. It appeared that an extradition hearing would be necessary to get him back here for trial on charges stemming from Saturday night's battle between Klansmen and Lumbee Indians near Maxton.

A Klan rally headed by Cole broke up before it started and gathering Klansmen were dispersed by Indian gunfire.

Meanwhile, a second Klansman drew a suspended 60-day sentence and a $60 fine at Maxton before an Indian judge for carrying a concealed weapon and for public drunkenness.

Asst. Recorder's Court Judge Lacy Manor quietly lectured James Garland Martin of Reidsville, N.C., as he gave him a 60-day suspended sentence and fined him $60 and court costs.

Martin—along with the South Carolina preacher, Cole—still faces a charge of inciting to a riot in connection with the Maxton rally.

Probers Charge Fraud, Forgery By Union Heads

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Senate rackets investigators raised charges today of fraud and forgery in the handling of thousands of dollars of union funds by officers of the huge San Francisco Operating Engineers Union.

Testimony and evidence centered on such items as "false entries" in the books, phony minutes of meetings, inflated election returns, an aerial check-cashing expedition, and money going to such things as a plane, a pleasure yacht and a race track operator.

The top target was Victor S. Swanson, once the business manager and real boss of the local and a vice president of the international union. He was booted out of both posts last year.

The bookkeeper for Local 3, E. L. Garrett, told the Senate's special investigating committee "false entries" were made on orders from Swanson. Treasurer Porter E. Vandewark said he was aware of some financial irregularity.

But President Patrick W. Clancy said he knew nothing of any fraud or forgery. He said he may be stupid but he isn't dishonest.

Testimony under oath produced evidence that doctored minutes of executive board meetings were slipped into the files to cover the mysterious spending of at least $26,500—and an aerial check-cashing expedition by Clancy and Vandewark.

Committee counsel Robert E. Kennedy got only denials from Vandewark that the treasurer had a part in faking the records.

Vandewark said a daughter, Mrs. Gerald Williams, never had done any typing for the union, on minutes of meetings or anything else.

"We just talked to her on the phone, at a quarter of two," Kennedy said, "and she said she did a lot of typing for you. And she said specifically she thought she did some typing of minutes for you—that you brought them over to her home."

The treasurer said he was certain that was wrong.

Sub Missile Threat Ignored, Solon Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said today the administration is virtually ignoring a threat of missiles that could be launched from a powerful fleet of Soviet submarines.

"Congress has before it substantial programs to detect missiles that could be launched from the Eurasian land mass," Jackson said in a statement. "But we have not been presented with the needed programs to detect missiles launched from submarines."

Jackson a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate—House Atomic Energy Committee, said he had urged the Defense Department to give high priority to the area of early warning and detection of submarine-launched missiles.

Midwest Digs Out As Storm Toll Hits 35

Huge Snow Drifts Clog Some Roads, Strand Motorists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worst snowstorm of the winter completed its eastern sweep across the nation Wednesday. It left at least 35 dead, some main highways clogged—and as a departing slap—coated much of New England with treacherous glaze.

The storm left parts of Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and southern Michigan digging out from under a snow blanket a foot or more thick.

A freight train joined in a rescue operation in northwestern Illinois after 15 autos and 10 trucks bogged down in snow drifts up to eight feet deep. A caboose was added to the Illinois Central freight to transport several stranded motorists to their homes along the rail line.

Many Schools Closed

The backlash of the storm peppered New England with rain, sleet and freezing rain as it moved out into the North Atlantic. Many secondary roads throughout the six-state area were slippery and unsafe for travel. Many elementary schools canceled sessions.

Most of the weather deaths were caused by car accidents or heart attacks while shoveling snow.

Illinois counted nine dead; Wisconsin, Iowa and Indiana six each, Missouri five and Kansas three.

18-Inch Fall In Missouri

Heaviest snowfalls in the storm that swept from southern New Mexico to the North Atlantic in three days included:

Odessa, Mo., 18 inches; Kansas City, 15; Muskegon, Mich., 15; Kenosha, Wis., 13; Ottumwa, Iowa, 12; and Bradford, Ill., 11.

Snowplows worked around the clock to restore normal travel on major highways.

In the Kansas City area, snow drifts up to 6 feet deep temporarily blocked U.S. 36, U.S. 24, U.S. 40, U.S. 50 and U.S. 71.

Four Convicted In Negro Attack

GREENVILLE, S.C., Jan. 22 (AP)—An all-white jury convicted four white men tonight in the flogging of a Negro farmer six months ago. Judge James M. Brailsford Jr. delayed sentencing until tomorrow.

The jury deliberated about four hours. Innocent verdicts were returned for two men and the judge earlier today had dismissed charges against five others charged in the case.

The jury found Andrew Marshall Rochester, 30; Wade Henry Howard, 24; Jack Bentley, 29; and Robert E. Waldrop, 28, guilty of conspiring to flog Claud Cruell, 58-year-old Negro landowner and Baptist deacon last July 21. Maximum sentence for conspiring to commit assault and battery is 10 years in prison.

In addition, Rochester and Howard were convicted of committing assault and battery, carrying a maximum sentence of five years in prison.

The jury freed Johnny Frank Quinn, 24, and R. J. Roach, 51.

Russia Denies Plane E. German Clearance

BERLIN, Jan. 22 (AP)—Russia has refused clearance to a U.S. Air Force plane to fly over East Germany to Moscow to pick up U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson.

The Russians told U.S. authorities to take the clearance request to the East German government, but Washington refused. The United States does not recognize that regime.

This was the story told by U.S. officials tonight in explaining the reason why Thompson's departure for Washington has been delayed. He was to have left Moscow tomorrow. Now he is not expected to leave until Saturday.

Food Prices Climb

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Wholesale food prices spurted to their highest level in nearly three years this week as measured by Dun & Bradstreet.

At $6.52 the index compared with $6.45 a week ago and was 6.2 per cent above the $6.14 figure in the similar week last year. The $6.52 figure was the highest since a similar reading in the week of April 19, 1955.

President Pledges Baghdad Pact Bloc "Constant" Support

Dulles Takes Off For Mideast With Blast At Soviets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower met Russia's newest blast against American Middle East policy today by denouncing "Communist imperialism" for threatening the independence of the area.

Eisenhower fired back at Russia's accusations as Secretary of State Dulles left for a 10-day flying visit to Turkey, Iran and Morocco.

Accompanied by seven advisers, Dulles took off in a special Air Force plane after issuing his own farewell denunciation of the Russians for advertising his trip as aimed at forcing American missiles on Mideast nations.

Such charges, leveled by the Soviet Foreign Office yesterday, are "totally false," he said. He went on to blast a Soviet statement that if the Moslem nations of the Middle East are armed with nuclear weapons it will be an "insult" to their religion.

It is incredibly arrogant, Dulles said, for "aggressive atheists" to insist that those who believe should, on that account, be militarily inferior to them.

Eisenhower firmly backed Dulles' mission in a separate White House statement which expressed the "deep concern of the United States for the security and economic development of this part of the free world."

Eisenhower authorized Dulles to express the government's "constant and unwavering support" for the principles of collective security which Mideast countries are seeking to strengthen via the Baghdad Pact.

Observer Pled For Dulles

Dulles' main purpose will be to sit in as observer at the top-level meeting in Ankara of the Baghdad Pact alliance which links Turkey, Iran, Pakistan, Iraq and Britain. The United States, while not a full-fledged member, is represented on three of the alliance's top committees.

Dulles was to spend four days in Ankara beginning Jan. 26. En route he was to meet tomorrow with Morocco's foreign minister at Marrakech and follow this up with a two-day stop at Tehran for conferences with the Shah of Iran.

Rogers Backed By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The nomination of William P. Rogers to be attorney general won quick approval Wednesday from the Senate Judiciary Committee.

There had been some thought beforehand that Southern senators might sound out Rogers' opinion on the legality of President Eisenhower's use of federal troops to enforce school integration at Little Rock.

However, none of them did so and Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) said the nomination of Rogers sailed through without objection.

One of the reasons Rogers encountered no trouble in the committee may be that he has taken a stand against pressing for new civil rights legislation going beyond the law passed in 1957.

Rogers proposed last December that the government observe a cooling-off period and see how the new law works.

Another reason for his quick approval may lie in the fact that he became well-known and liked by senators during his service as chief counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee in 1947-50. He served under both Republican and Democratic chairmen.

Dog Man's Best Friend, Cabbie's Best Customer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 22 (AP)—A mongrel dog named Sugar took a six-hour tour of the city today by taxi. Her fare: $15, plus a $5 tip.

"The dog's a good companion, and the best customer I ever had," said Donald Jaggers, who was parked outside a downtown hotel when Sugar's owner approached and asked if he would take the dog riding.

The woman, whom Jaggers knew only as "Mrs. Robinson" from Chicago, handed over $50 and the cabbie and Sugar were off.

"I guess that dog saw all of Louisville," said Don. "She's sure a good-mannered dog. She always scratched my leg with her paw when she wanted out."

phoned his wife and told her he was working overtime. She didn't believe it until Jaggers stopped by the house with his passenger.

At 3 a.m. Don picked up the tab for Sugar's supper. "She ate two hamburgers, but she wouldn't drink the coffee I bought her," he said.

Three hours later, he met the owner at a drive-in restaurant after she had arranged a meeting place through the cab company dispatcher, who contacted Don by radio.

The owner climbed in the back seat and went to sleep, giving Don another $80 to "keep close watch on Sugar. Nothing's too good for my dog."

Don said, however, he returned the $80 and the woman's change from the $50 after his passengers reached the hotel.

At Least 100 Die In Bloody Street Fights

Wounded Overflow Caracas Hospitals; Major Battle Looms

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 22 (AP)—Foes of President Marcos Perez Jimenez, already marring 100 dead and hundreds of injured, renewed battle here today with government security forces.

Hospitals were jammed with casualties.

Informed sources in Washington said hundreds were reported killed as the rioting increased and spread in Caracas and its outskirts. The U.S. State Department said it still had received no report of any injury to U.S. citizens or damage to American property.

In the new street fighting opposition groups were reported preparing to mass all their machine guns and rifles for a major battle in one section of the city, attempting to draw troops and police under a concentration of fire power.

The first bloody rioting attended a general strike Tuesday. The capital showed visible damage of this protest against the strongman rule of Perez Jimenez.

The initial outbreak Tuesday was accompanied by heavy rifle and machine gun fire. Gasoline fire bombings destroyed at least 30 buses and 20 other vehicles. A textile factory was reported burned. Several houses were set afire. Windows of the closed shops were broken.

Hospitals Jammed

While reliable sources gave the death toll of at least 100, the censored government radio acknowledged that 24 civilians were killed and 273 wounded in the first clashes, and said the list was growing.

There were clear indications here that the government's report of wounded is conservative. One doctor said the hospitals were so full there was no place for more. The firing Tuesday continued late into the fear-filled night, but ceased about midnight. Some said they heard cannon fire.

The government acknowledged that what it called minor disturbances had occurred Tuesday in five interior states, but it said calm was restored to the country Wednesday. Then it announced another curfew in effect from 6 p.m. Wednesday to 5 a.m. Thursday.

Censorship Imposed

(Censorship prevails in Venezuela. This dispatch reached the United States via channels other than those ordinarily used.)

There were no reports of harm to the 40,000 Americans who work in oil and other enterprises in Venezuela, where the U.S. stake is estimated at about three billion dollars.

There was no prospect for an early end to the crisis which began with an abortive New Year's Day revolt by some air force and army units.

The Tuesday riots were preceded by a strike of Caracas newspapers. They did not appear, despite strenuous efforts of national security police to get the crews back to work.

Tension grew during the morning as hundreds of police, armed with machine guns, rifles, tear gas bombs and machetes prepared for the noon strike hour.

All stores in the city closed at noon and crowds gathered in El Silencio Plaza, Caracas' main square.

Gaillard Policy Upheld 343-224

PARIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—The National Assembly tonight adopted 343-224 a motion expressing confidence in Premier Felix Gaillard's foreign policy.

The vote followed a two-day debate on foreign affairs.

It implied parliamentary approval of Gaillard's handling of East-West relations, the future installation of rocket launching bases in France, and a whole series of North African problems ranging from French-Tunisian relations to French seizure of a Yugoslav cargo of arms allegedly consigned to the nationalist rebels in Algeria.

Foreign Minister Christian Pineau had told the deputies French defenses must include launching ramps for missiles able to reach Soviet territory.

Gaillard supported Pineau in demanding rockets as a military necessity. "Why should those in the other camp who possess these missiles already, and who doubtless have them already installed, forbid us to possess them ourselves?" Gaillard demanded.

Reuther Tells UAW Pact Talks Could Be Difficult

GM Head Rejects Bid To Address Union

DETROIT, Jan. 22 (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, warned members Wednesday that their 1958 contract negotiations will be conducted in an unfavorable atmosphere because of uncertainties in the domestic economy and world conditions.

"These are unusual times and that is why we have proposed an unusual approach," he told 3,000 delegates to the UAW's special three-day convention here.

The convention will decide whether to support recommendations by Reuther and the UAW International Executive Board that a profit-sharing plan be one of the major demands on the auto industry's Big Three this year.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors Corp., turned down an invitation to address the convention, asking Reuther in a

Trudeau Watches Last Korea Exercise

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Jan. 22 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, the U. S. Army's new chief of research and development, today watched his front-line troops launch a simulated atomic attack just south of the Communist-Al- lied truce line.

"Operation Snowflake" was probably the last live exercise for the retiring 1st Corps command- er. He leaves Korea early next month to take over the missile and weapons post vacated by Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin's retire- ment.

Trudeau, whose men call him "abominable snowman" for call- ing the operation in the freezing cold, commended the units.

Mothers May Appeal To Chou

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Redmond flew to Peiping today from Shanghai to join two other American mothers in an appeal for release of their imprisoned sons—possibly to Premier Chou En-lai.

The British news agency Reuters in a dispatch from Peiping said they would see a senior gov- ernment minister tomorrow. But the Yonkers, N. Y., mother had said in Peiping the Chinese Red Cross had suggested she see Chou himself.

Reuters said the three mothers still were unaware of the identity of the official they would see.

Mrs. Jessie Fecteau of Lynn, Mass., and Mrs. Mary Downey of New Britain, Conn., already were in Peiping where they have been allowed to visit their sons.

Mrs. Redmond's son, Hugh, is serving a life term in a Shanghai prison on a charge of spying. Richard Fecteau is serving a 20- year term and John Downey is serving life on spy charges. Both are in a Peiping prison.

McElroy Promises Defense Dept. Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Sen- ate Democratic leader, said to- day that Secretary of Defense Mc- Elroy expects to have a Pentagon reorganization proposal ready for congressional action at this ses- sion.

McElroy spent several hours testifying at a closed-door session of the Senate Preparedness sub- committee considering missiles, satellites and other defense devel- opments.

Virginia Slayer Captured After All-Night Chase

PARKERSBURG, Jan. 22 (AP)—The mad flight of a Virginia gun- man, accused of killing one woman and wounding two others, ended placidly in a sodden brier- patch near Parkersburg today.

State Trooper B. W. Adkins of Harrisville and Police Chief Ger- ald Sennett of nearby Vienna (pop. 6,000) spied the object of their pursuit lying flat on his stomach peering ahead of him.

The chief brandished his saved- off shotgun and called: "Get up. This time I'll shoot you."

Sidney James McCormick, 25, of Lynchburg, Va., sullen but un- armed, struggled to his feet, his arms reaching skyward.

Virginia officers accused him of killing his ex- wife's grand- mother, Mrs. Alma Walton Da- vis, 66, wounding Mrs. Davis' daughter, Mrs. Alma Davis Pow- ell, 33, and his ex-wife, Mrs. Be- verly Jean McCormick, 19.

Javits Demands Filibuster Curb

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Sen. Javits (R-NY) says that with is- sues of peace or oblivion to be decided, the Senate cannot per- mit itself to be paralyzed by fili- busters.

In a report to the Senate Rules Committee, he said that group has a duty to recommend elimina- tion of what he called a roadblock not only to legislation on civil rights but other subjects.

Specifically, he called for mod- ification of Senate Rule 22 re- quiring the votes of 64 senators, or two-thirds of the entire mem- bership, to put a time-limit on debate.

Javits said the present rule gives a small minority veto power and urged that it be changed to permit filibusters to be choked off.

His report was an expression of his individual views as one of the two members of a subcom- mittee assigned to conduct hear- ings on proposals to change Rule 22. Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga.), the other subcommittee member, plans to submit his report next week.

Booming Business

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—National Car Rental System announced to- day it has bought 6,000 1958 model cars and 9,000 other new models will be delivered by the end of April.

Federal authorities entered the case with a charge of "unlawful flight to avoid prosecution" for murder in Virginia.

High Speed Navy Boat To Be Added To State's Fleet

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—A high-speed former Navy patrol boat will be added to the law en- forcement fleet of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission on Monday.

The 63-foot craft, to be christ- ened the "Gov. Theodore R. Mc- Keldin," was obtained from the Navy's "mothball fleet" at no cost to the state. It will be by far the fastest craft in the patrol fleet which is charged with enforce- ment of Maryland conservation laws in the tidewater area.

A launching ceremony will be held here at 3:30 p.m. Monday. Gov. McKeldin's 18-year old daughter, Clara, will send the boat into the fleet with the break- ing of a bottle of champagne.

John P. Tawes, TFC chairman, said McKeldin was instrumental in securing the donation from the federal government.

GE Delivers 11 Rocket Engines For Vanguard

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP)—General Electric Co. said today it has delivered 11 X405 rocket engines to the Martin Co. for Project Vanguard and will deliver a 12th shortly.

The company also disclosed for the first time, with Pentagon ap- proval, details of its program for testing the 27,000-pound thrust power plant which will be the first stage of the Vanguard satellite- launching vehicle.

The tests indicated the engine was strong enough to run much longer than the 2½ minutes re- quired in Vanguard operation.

The Navy, which failed in its first attempt to launch the Van- guard Dec. 6, is preparing for a new try at some unannounced date in the near future.

Twelve X405 engines and a spare were ordered for the Van- guard program. Two have been used up, in the full-scale test launching of Dec. 6 and in a first- stage test, with dummy second and third stages, last Oct. 23.

The three-stage, 72-foot rocket will be used ultimately to launch a 20-inch sphere into an orbit around the earth.

Louis Michelson, manager of rocket engines for GE's flight propulsion laboratory department at Cincinnati, said the X405 en- gine has passed the qualification test requirements of the Martin Co.

Shoe Repairman Kills Wife, Three Children And Self

BEATRICE, Neb., Jan. 22 (AP)—Five members of a Beatrice, Neb., family were dead today as the result of what Police Chief Gene H. Burton termed a family mur- der and suicide.

The lone survivor was 14-year- old Sherman Williams, who was clubbed with a gun butt by his father as he telephoned police for help. He was bruised on the head.

The victims were Sherman Dean Williams, 41; his wife, Dorothy, 39, and three children, Richard, 9, Cathy, 6, and Mary Kay, 3.

Burton said Williams, who had lost his lease on his shoe repair shop and sold his equipment only yesterday, shot four members of his family with a .32 caliber auto- matic pistol, clubbed his older son as the boy telephoned police, then went to the basement and killed himself with a 20-gauge shotgun. Williams, his wife and younger son, died at once. The two girls died in a hospital.

Flying Noah's Ark Leaves For Bolivia

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP)—Bolivia's flying Noah's Ark finally took off for home today.

The Bolivian government's C46 is loaded with livestock donated to the people of Bolivia by Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Indi- ana farmers and church members.

The plane had mechanical diffi- culties in Ohio Friday and was delayed reaching here on the re- turn flight because its pilot is not trained for night flying.

The weather cleared up today and the horses, bulls, sheep, hogs, goats, rabbits and chickens left for Bolivia.

Large city markets of the United States handle some 50 varieties of vegetables throughout the year.

Army Engineers Revise Pocomoke Bridge Plans

BALTIMORE, Jan. 22 (AP)—Army engineers today approved location with representatives of the Pocomoke City area in the hope of clearing up opposition to the bridge. The Army approved a bridge with the main channel span 35 feet above the mean low water mark of the river. It would have a horizontal clearance of 55 feet. "It is the opinion of the department that a fixed bridge with a vertical clearance of 35 feet will not unreasonably affect navigation and will serve the best public interest," said Col. Stanley T. B. Johnson, District Army engineer. He also said objections voiced at a public hearing held by the Corps of Engineers in Snow Hill last July 9 as well as those received in writing were given "due consideration by the Department of the Army in arriving at a decision on the matter."

Devereux Receives Advance Support

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rep. James P. Devereux (R-Md.), who is expected to file soon for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, has received advance backing from the Young Republican Club of Anne Arundel County. The former Marine general, rounding out his fourth term as congressman from the Second District, apparently has clinched the GOP organization's support for the May 20 primary. He and Sen. J. Glenn Beall, seeking re-election were endorsed by formal resolutions of the club last night.

Arundel Voter Registration Law Assailed

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—The chairman of the Anne Arundel County Election Board today criticized a law providing for a special registration of county voters on the precinct level. He said it is "a bad law, . . . politically inspired and . . . completely without merit."

The statement by Douglas F. Lyons was in response to criticism leveled at Republican election officials yesterday by Del. Kirkland (D-Anne Arundel) for setting precinct registration hours from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Kirkland said the officials' action was "outrageous and high handed" and would deprive working men and women of the opportunity to register. He said the registration should continue until 9 p. m.

The precinct provision, attached to a state election bill at the 1957 General Assembly, applies only to Anne Arundel County. It provides for a two-day registration in precincts in addition to regular daily registration at the courthouse. No hours were specified in the bill.

Lyons said registration on the precinct level leads to many errors by inexperienced election judges and amounts to "a costly duplication of services to taxpayers . . . with no proportionate increase in benefit to them."

"I do not intend to give any more expression to this bad law than I am compelled to do by the law itself," Lyons said.

Gem Mystery Solved At Sale

BALTIMORE, Jan. 22 (AP)—A doctor who collects antiques became curious at an auction and accidentally solved the mystery of the missing jewelry.

One of the pieces of furniture scheduled to be auctioned was a Winthrop writing desk.

Dr. Harvey P. Sidwell of Bel Air wondered whether it had a secret compartment as does the one he owns. He satisfied his curiosity by pressing a special spring lock.

Out popped a drawer. Inside was jewelry which executors of an estate had been unable to find. The jewelry, valued at about $800, includes a wrist watch with sapphires and diamonds.

It was part of the estate of Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward Cloud, founder of a cab company, died last November, four months after his wife's death.

The desk went for $105—minus the jewelry.

Man Helping Erect TV Antenna Electrocutted

SALISBURY, Jan. 22 (AP)—Coulbourne Ross Ruark, 28, dairy farm employee of near Eden, was electrocuted last night while he and his brother-in-law were installing a television antenna.

Earl Carpenter, his brother-in-law, said Ruark was raising the antenna when it struck a power line running to the house. A ball of fire jumped to the antenna. Carpenter said, Ruark dropped the metal rod, walked a few steps and collapsed.

He was dead on arrival at a physician's office nearby.

Noted Chemist Dies Of Cancer

BALTIMORE, Jan. 22 (AP)—Dr. Arda Green, nationally famous chemist, died today of cancer. She was 58.

Dr. Green was presented the Garvan medal by the American Chemical Society last September as the woman who had made the most outstanding contribution in 1957 in the field of chemistry. She was to have been formally presented with the medal next spring.

The honor was based on her research work on fireflies. She successfully isolated in crystalline form the enzymes responsible for the glow the fireflies produce. It aided the overall program in understanding the transformation of food into energy.

She was a doctor of medicine and was a research associate with the McCollum-Pratt Institute, a branch of the biology department at the Johns Hopkins University. During the 40s she worked at Washington University in St. Louis with Professors Carl and Gerty Cory, who were awarded a Nobel prize in 1947 for studies on proteins.

Frederick Man Gets Agriculture Post

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—J. Edgar Ferrell Jr. of Frederick has been named an assistant agricultural agent for Anne Arundel County. He will specialize in home horticulture.

County Agent Hobart K. Nicholson said Ferrell's appointment is a sign of urbanization in the county. He said 70 per cent of information requests received by the extension office last summer were from homeowners seeking help on lawn and shrub problems or insecticides.

Ferrell is a 1955 graduate of the University of Maryland.

Israel Bond Drive Here Is Outlined

Plans for the 1958 Israel bond campaign were outlined at a week-end conference in Washington, according to Rabbi Daniel Lowy, chairman of the Cumberland bond drive committee.

Assisting Rabbi Lowy as co-chairman is Leonard C. Schwab, who said the local committee will have charge of campaigns in Aberdeen, Bel Air, Edgewood, Elkton, Havre de Grace, Perry Point, Perryville and Port Deposit.

The campaign is expected to be launched within the next few weeks, Schwab said, and the full membership of the local committee will be announced prior to the start of the drive.

Schwab explained that the bond campaign is being conducted to assist in the economic development of Israel, and that the quota for the appeal has been established at $75,000,000.

The theme for the 1958 drive is a "decade of economic independence" for the State of Israel, Rabbi Lowy stated.

Court Finds Local Man's Slayer Guilty

The slayer of a former Cumberland man was convicted Tuesday in Baltimore and faces death in the gas chamber or life imprisonment.

He is Raymond Clifford Cook, 22, an unemployed drydock worker, who shot and killed Eugene F. Drombrosky last year on Good Friday in an alley in the East Baltimore section.

Cook, who lived in the 500 block South East Avenue, Baltimore, and is the father of an 11-month-old child, pleaded innocent and prayed a jury trial at the outset of the Criminal Court hearing but later entered a general plea of guilty to the murder charge.

Judge Anselm Sodaro rendered the first-degree murder verdict after hearing the evidence but deferred imposition of sentence until later in the week.

Drombrosky and Cook had been drinking companions for about six hours before the shooting. Police at the time of the shooting said Drombrosky was robbed of vacation money with which he had planned to buy Easter outfits for his nine children.

The victim lived in the 1900 block North Rose Street, Baltimore. Cook admitted that he grabbed the man's wallet after Drombrosky changed his mind about purchasing a 45-caliber Army pistol from him. He contended in a signed statement that he threw away the wallet without removing the contents while fleeing from the murder scene.

However, police told Judge Sodaro Tuesday that they found $58 under a linoleum rug in Cook's apartment during a thorough search four days after the killing.

Increase In Criminal Cases Noted

A total of 406 criminal cases were handled in Cumberland's two Trial Magistrate courts during the year 1957, representing an increase of 20 per cent over 1956 figures.

The court records, compiled by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason, were released yesterday and reveal a 100 per cent increase when compared with figures in 1951, the year the court started keeping records.

Last year Magistrate Mason handled 172 criminal cases, while Magistrate J. Milton Dick handled 234 cases.

Only 194 criminal hearings were held in 1951, while 340 cases were tried last year.

Criminal fines, mostly from game and fish violations, totaled $1,029.50 last year, compared to $1,900 the previous year. In 1951 only $865 was collected in fines.

The local magistrates pointed out that the reason for the decrease in fines last year is probably due to the fact that more game cases were handled in Oldtown and Flintstone last year than the year before.

Last year a total of 730 civil cases were tried, with Magistrate Dick hearing 315 and Magistrate Mason 415. This represents an increase over the 688 cases in 1956 and the 380 in 1951.

The increase in 1957 over 1951 of 350 cases is 95 per cent, while the increase in 1957 over 1956 of 42 cases represents a 10 per cent hike.

Last year 175 attachments and executions on judgments were handled showing an increase of about 30 cases or 20 per cent over the 1956 total of 145.

Other work handled in the court last year involved issuance of hundreds of criminal warrants, accepting bonds for cases sent to the grand jury and Circuit Court, the handling of many rent default cases and ejectment cases, and also issuing hundreds of bounty vouchers for persons who killed fox, hawks, owls and weasels.

The clerk of the courts also sold hundreds of dog licenses during the year.

The year 1957 saw the local courts handling 2,527 motor vehicle cases, 406 criminal cases, 730 civil cases and 175 attachments and executions for a total of 3,838 cases in court.

C&P Company Sums Up Case For Increase

BALTIMORE — The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland yesterday summed up its case asking for more than eight million dollars in additional revenue.

It said in a brief filed with the Public Service Commission that the need for expanding its services, coupled with higher investment costs, make the rate hike necessary.

The telephone company originally proposed the increase last Aug. 16. The proposals would hike its bills about 90 cents to the average Maryland customer, and at the same time increase the number of exchanges that can be called on a local basis without added fees.

The rates originally filed would produce additional revenue of $6,855,000. In a supplemental request, the C&P asked for another $1,400,000 to cover "added wage expense."

The commission has suspended the rate increases until Feb. 12, by which time it expects to hand down a decision.

Among those who argued against the rate hikes in hearings before the commission were the city solicitor's office of Baltimore and People's Counsel Wilfred McQuaid of the PSC.

In its brief the company repeated that it needed more money because of "the upward spiral of wages and prices, the relative scarcity of investment funds and admittedly higher costs of capital." It also attributed the need to "tremendous demand for new service and for replacement" of its existing facilities.

This improved service, the C&P said, includes technological research and development. The company pointed out its rate of return over cost of operations had not been adjusted since 1952. Now fixed at 5.96 per cent, the C&P wants it boosted to 6.10 per cent.

"The important thing is for the commission to recognize the basic change in our economy—that inflation has increased the cost of everything we buy, including the cost of capital necessary to provide efficient telephone service," the C&P argued.

The company says it needs the extra money to carry out an expansion program.

New rates it proposed for Baltimore would range from 65 to 85 cents more for residential phones and $1.10 to $1.20 higher for business phones.

Outside of Baltimore City, in areas with more than 25,000 telephones, subscribers would pay $1.10 more for a one-party line, or $6.40 instead of $5.30. This would include Silver Spring, Hagerstown and Cumberland.

For those in areas with 10,000 to 25,000 telephones, the flat rate for one-party service would rise from $5.30 to $6.15, or an 85 cent increase.

In turn, the company said customers would have more freedom in calling nearby points, removing 19 million extra charges a year from their bills.

Cannon Cuts Prices

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Cannon Mills Co., the nation's largest producer of bedsheets, will cut prices of sheets and pillowcases from 5 to 11 per cent effective today.

Pacific Mills Domestic Corp., a division of M. Lowenstein & Sons Inc., and Peppercorn Manufacturing Co. said they will follow suit with identical reductions.

Truck Driver Is Killed In Turnpike Crash

A Minnesota truck driver was killed and his companion was injured early yesterday in a skidding crash on an icy patch of the Pennsylvania Turnpike about 13 miles east of the Bedford interchange.

Killed was James Shockley, 33. Taken to Bedford County Memorial Hospital was Alan P. Hilla of Belleville, N. J.

Hospital attaches said Hilla sustained minor cuts and abrasions and is listed in "good" condition.

State Police gave this account of the crash.

An auto operated by Chester Stager, 56, of Portage, Pa., skidded on ice, crashed into a guard rail, slid across the highway and came to rest against a metal barrier in the medial strip.

Shockley's tractor-trailer, travelling in the same direction, skidded on the ice, hit Stager's car and plowed into a guard rail along the berm. Shockley apparently was thrown from the truck and run over by truck wheels, police said.

Stager escaped injury. Police said he had got out of his car and was trying to warn oncoming traffic when the crash occurred.

Damages Sought From Blasting

A damage suit was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday by Frank R. Cessna and Josephine B. Cessna, his wife, against the Harrison Construction Company in which they claim their home was damaged by blasting by the company during the construction work on the B&O Railroad yard expansion project last year.

The suit, filed for the couple by William L. Wilson, their attorney, states that the Cessnas own a four-room cedar frame dwelling at 124 Massachusetts Avenue which was completed in 1955.

Blasts from dynamite or other high explosives damaged the foundation, caused joists to sag and cracked plaster in the home, the Cessnas state in their suit. The blasting took place between July and November of last year, they stated.

Damages of $2,500 are requested in the suit.

A Psychiatric Use For The Diplomats

Skeptics have stated for many years that the world was going to pot, but a new investigative tangent by the scientific world raises the question whether that goal has been achieved. Psychoanalysts are now concerning themselves with the problem of why some human beings manage to retain their sanity.

Admittedly it is a good trick for anyone even half alert to happenings in the age of science to maintain his equilibrium, with total emphasis being placed by world powers on weapons of wholesale destruction, guided missiles, anti-guided missiles, and anti-anti-guided missiles.

Few were aware, however, that the world of the future—now here—had so unbalanced the population that sane persons were regarded with some perverted suspicion.

Actually, studies of sanity are expected to produce additional information for the use of psychiatrists in treating the mentally ill. Dr. Frederick J. Hacker, a mental health specialist of Los Angeles recently returned from a Paris meeting of similar practitioners from 25 nations, explained the new approach to psychiatry as an effort to uncover more facts concerning mental health, as opposed to mental ill health.

"This is part of a general trend away from interest primarily in the sick side of things," he stated. "Earlier we studied most thoroughly why people break down, why they develop inhibitions and other symptoms, why they hate and feel hatred. Now, we're increasingly interested in how people stay well, how any of us remain sane. We want to learn more about how each of us can relate himself lovingly to his environment and to himself."

Diplomats might take a cue from the new medical investigative trend. Instead of devoting most of their time to proving each other insane, they might try to discover what makes those who are sane tick.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Public Relations

John W. Hill operates what is regarded as the largest and most impressive public relations firm in the world, with offices in many countries and a big show in New York. So John Hill has written a book to explain what public relations is all about, particularly corporate public relations which is his specialty. The purpose of the book is obviously to clarify that corporate public relations is a profession, with the disciplines and limitations of a profession. Hill says in this book, "Corporate Public Relations":

"It is possible in a free country, without greatly stretching the imagination, to read 'public opinion' for 'government.' In a nation with free elections, the near-equaling of the two terms is justified. For, while public opinion can no more assume the making of government decisions than stockholders can decide all the matters weighed by management, our American system is such that delegation of power and of confidence is the equivalent of taking action."

This is strong language and has never been quite true in the United States where the Administration in power has never altogether been dependent upon the public opinion of the moment nor could it respond to it by any constitutional method. It would be more true to say that governments in some Central American and South American countries respond sensitively to public opinion, often expressed in the guise of rebellion, and it certainly is true of France where no government can last long because of the vagaries of public opinion, however devised.

Nor can it be substantiated that "delegation of power and of confidence is the equivalent of taking action." Were it so this would be an absolute anarchy. The most recent President Eisenhower's press conferences, in which he slapped down a reporter for a question on John Foster Dulles, showed how those who possess actual and constitutional power need not worry about whether their views represent a delegation of public confidence.

However, what is brought out here is that public opinion is both wooed and raped in the United States and that it is the function of public relations to do both. John Hill, his Calvinistic upbringing asserting itself, in his book, resents the abuse of the term "public relations," by a press agent boosting a floosie into a personality, although he would regard giving a corporation or a trade association the policy advice by which they get a good name. He says:

"Thus corporate public relations may be described as the management function which gives the same organized and careful attention to the asset of good will as is given to any other major asset of the business."

That, after all, is what a gal like Eva Bartok wants—good will. And to many in the forensic occupations it is worth millions of dollars the same as for a corporation. In a word, it is a bit snooty to assume that there is something superior about the corporation, although there are those who believe it and become very stuffy when it is suggested that selling soap or gasoline or steel is nothing more important than selling a voice in the movies or a body in a night club. What it comes to is that if there is a demand there is a supply and the profit is greater if the demand is greater than the supply. All the good will in the world will not help the United States Steel Corporation sell steel during a depression and that was shown in the last Depression when the United States Government went to the aid of the corporation which was like putting it on relief.

This book is interesting because what it really does is analyze the art of persuasion and explore the techniques, the object being not only to influence Americans to accept public relations as a noble art like the ministry or the law, but also to stabilize the profession so that those who earn their livelihoods a little off beat, will be stricken in their consciences by their evil conduct and will behave. The purpose is a worthy one and the book is therefore valuable.

One reason that we lack effective leadership is that too many leaders are manufactured in the offices of public relations counsel. If anybody says that that is good, how does he explain the present crop of leaders?

'Look At Those Missiles Go'

Gen. Twining Shows The Way For Top Officers

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—There ought to be a new medal pinned on the chest of General Nathan F. Twining, former Chief of Staff of the U. S. Air Force and now chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—a medal for courageous expression and distinguished service on the battle front of American politics. For he has put into bold relief the dilemma of every general or admiral who testifies before a Congressional committee—how to give needed information without himself becoming involved in the controversies of the civilian branch of the government.

General Twining the other day was discussing before the Senate Subcommittee on Military Preparedness the tendency of the interrogators to demand opinions on the merits of the military budget and was decrying the effort to force the military officers to appraise the acts of civilian officials. He said:

"To take the President's final (budget) decision and turn it back at them (military chiefs) and say, 'Is this adequate?'—I think that ought to be reconsidered because it puts the military man in a pretty tough seat. . . . If he says it is inadequate, he just, I think, is approaching insubordination; and if he says it is adequate, he has more or less perjured himself."

Certainly Congress is entitled to every bit of information on military matters that it is possible for the Executive Branch of the government to give without violating security—and even confidential data can be furnished in many instances in executive session. But General Twining is 100 per cent right when he objects to the procedure of committees in Congress seeking to get, through the testimony of military officers, information that would reflect on the civilian officials who are immediate superiors of these same military commanders.

There is, of course, nothing wrong in trying to elicit information that exposes incompetency on the part of the civilian officials, but there is a right and a wrong way to handle military officers in these ticklish matters.

Thus, for instance, every chief of an armed service is usually asked to present his views in writing to the head of his service—the Secretary for Air, or the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Navy. These documents cover every conceivable phase of the problem of military preparedness. Requests for appropriations are matters of record inside every department. If Congressional committees want this information, they can ask for a particular document from the civilian secretaries and can raise Cain with them if it is not forthcoming. But to cross-examine the military men and attempt to use them as a means of convicting their superiors of bad judgment or incompetence goes beyond the limits of proper procedure.

There has never been a budget prepared for the armed forces which military chieftains thought was "enough." This is natural because they think of every conceivable contingency that might find them without adequate manpower or weapons with which to fight a war the next week. But, once they have presented their requests and have been asked to come up with their "minimum requirements," it is up to the civilian secretary who wisely pares such a budget to come before the committees of Congress and take the rap for it.

The President himself isn't subject to Congressional summons,

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Is Jim Gavin another Billy Mitchell or don't you smoke your cigarettes down that far?

Mitchell was given a drum-head court-martial with his number on every bass, kettle and snare.

All he did was run a glissando on the tocsin of aeronautic prophecy. The big brass polished him off.

I remember Arthur Brisbane telling Runyon and me to stick in a plug for Mitchell. Who not only claimed he could scuttle a battlescow from the mezzanine but did it.

For that he was staked to the wayfarer's gavoite. Broken like a breadstick.

That will not happen to Jim Gavin who marches forth with his epaulets akimbo and his chin stuck out like a whaler's bowsprit.

How about the War Office being reluctant to see Jim go after four-laning the exit plank? They piped Jim overboard with tries for the extra point after touchdown.

Senator Neely, Great Battler For Economic Justice, Laid To Rest

By Drew Pearson

Capital a model city; how he could quote from almost every chapter of the Bible; how intensely loyal he was to West Virginia; and how he was the first man to urge that the government spend a billion dollars to fight cancer.

Ironically, it was cancer that sent him to his grave. And when he was lowered into the grave, Matt's loyalty was fulfilled. His coffin was made in West Virginia.

Rayburn And Neely

This observer, however, will always remember Matt Neely for his explosive wrath against the lobbying attempts of big business, for his record as a crusading, uncompromising battler against economic injustice even before anyone ever heard of the New Deal. His were the days when some mighty voices were heard in the Senate—those of George Norris of Nebraska, Tom Walsh and Burt Wheeler of Montana, Hiram Johnson of California, Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin, Charlie McNary of Oregon—battling against those who sought to write laws through economic power.

Sometimes in these latter years, as Matt Neely neared the end of the road, his voice seemed very much alone.

Another Democrat came to Congress in the same year that West Virginia first sent Matt Neely to Washington—a young Congressman from Texas named Sam Rayburn. That was 1913, one year before the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand in the Balkan city of Sarajevo was to touch off the bloodiest war so far in history. Neely and Rayburn served for many years together.

Came the New Deal and Sam became a New Dealer, sponsored some of its most important legislation. But while Matt Neely was turning a deaf ear to political contributions to influence his vote on the gas bill, Speaker Rayburn was promoting political contributions to help Congressmen who would vote for the gas bill.

And today Sam is opposing any penetrating probe of the very same New Deal agencies he helped create—especially the Federal Communications Commission. It's reported repeatedly on Capitol Hill, though denied officially, that the real reason for Sam's back-away is a backstage Republican-Democratic deal.

The Republicans will produce enough votes to pass the Harris gas bill in which Mr. Sam is so vitally interested. The Democrats in turn will hush up the investigation of Republican influence peddling and corruption in the Federal Communications Commission in which the Speaker was once so vitally interested.

It seems like a long time since Rayburn and Neely served together in the House of Representatives.

Merry-Go-Round

Princess Margaret wants to visit the United States next year after she goes to Canada. She would like to spend one month touring the USA from coast to coast, but advisers suggest that she shouldn't stay here more than two weeks because Canadians would be offended. Margaret is spending only two weeks in Canada. . . . Scotty McLeod, the State Department's ex-Security Chief, is getting fed up with being Ambassador to Ireland. He's angling for a higher paying job in Geneva. . . . Jack de Ment Laboratories in Portland, Oregon, points out that H-bombs can be used for all sorts of peaceful purposes, such as shattering icebergs, ice jams, even for open pit mining and remaking of the desert. . . . When Gov. "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky tangled with the Daily News of Jackson, Miss., its editors commented that Happy's squawk reminded them "of a sign we saw in the Pentagon during World War II: 'Don't Go Away Mad—Just Go Away.' In the spirit of brotherly love for 1958," said the Jackson News, "we'll amend that phrase as follows: 'Don't Go Away Mad—Go Away, Happy.' And please observe," said the News, "that last comma."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

I write notes to myself. These are reminders. My memory is fine. It's just that I can't remember what I'm doing. Or where I'm going. One of the notes is in front of me now. It reads: "Windows washed." "Joey Adams." "Column." "50th Armored Div." "Lunch." "Brad Kelly." "Car washed." "Sign Report card." "Mary Boland and Jackie Loughery."

All of these, I am sure, would be fascinating if only there were a clue to what they mean. My desk calendar has more notes. I don't worry too much about these because I can't read them. In my wallet are notes dating back to 1946. I keep them because I must have had a reason for putting them in the wallet. I used to tell Gayle to remind me of certain matters, and she always said sadly: "Who's going to remind me to remind you?"

Well, all of this is at an end. Someone sent a copy of How to Develop a Super-Power Memory, by Harry Lorayne. I do not know Mr. Lorayne, but his memory course is great. I have only read about 20 pages and already I know my own phone number without looking in the book.

Mr. Lorayne's system is to first show you how bad your memory is. He started off by asking which light is on top of the traffic light—the green or the red? I was sure that it was the red, but he had me winging. In case you're the nervous type, it is the red.

Then he wrote: "Don't look at your wrist watch" and I didn't. I always play these games as though my guardian angel were watching. Then Mr. Lorayne asked me if the number six on my watch dial is a figure 6 or a Roman numeral. I look at the watch a dozen times a day. I see traffic lights every day. I finally said to myself: "Roman numeral." I looked. It was neither. Just a bar of gold. Then, while I was still reeling, he said that, as long as I had just looked at the watch, could I now tell him what time it was.

Well, that was the living end. I didn't know. I had to peek. Then he asked me if I smoke and I nodded dumbly at page 14. He asked me whose picture is on the blue tax stamp on the cigarette. Ha! I didn't even know that there was a stamp! So I looked. Now I know who is on the stamp. After I had a good solid look, I went back to How to Develop a Super-Power Memory and the author asked me what the man on the blue tax stamp was doing with his left hand.

This left me so unnerved that I lit two cigarettes while one was burning in the tray. The living room began to look like a joss house. He asked me my social security number and I just burst out laughing. Mr. Lorayne asked me if I could draw a map of England and I shook my head no. He said that he'd bet that if he asked me to draw a map of Italy that I could do it. Why? Because Italy is in the shape of a boot. The association of boot and Italy makes it easy to remember.

The memory, Mr. Lorayne said, is like a muscle. The more you use it, the better it gets. I felt better at once. All I need are some mental muscles. I started flexing my head.

"You are driving a bus," Mr. Lorayne wrote, "which contains 50 people. The bus make one stop and ten people get off, while three people get on. At the next stop, 7 people get off the bus and 2 get on. There are two more stops at which 4 passengers get off each time, and 3 get on at one stop, and none at the other. "At this point, the bus has to stop because of mechanical trouble. Some of the passengers decide to walk. Eight people get off the bus. When the bus is repaired, it goes on to the last stop and the rest of the people get off."

This stuff is pretty simple. Rather childish. As the bus went on, I just kept adding the passengers who got on the bus, and subtracting those who got off. I have a dog who can tap out the answers with his paw.

Then Mr. Lorayne asked his question: "How many stops did the bus make?" I went into the bathroom for an aspirin and made two stops. Back to the book. I didn't think it was possible, but Mr. Lorayne had another question: "What was the name of the bus driver?"

Did I permit this to rattle me? Certainly. I began to think seriously of my own memory problems, and especially of the little notes that I write to myself. Without even looking at them, I knew that I mustn't forget to ask Joey Adams to wash the windows and to arrange for the 50th armored division to take Brad Kelly to lunch while Mary Boland and Jackie Loughery washed the car. Oh, yes. I mustn't forget to write a column too. . . .

"Is there anything I can do for you?" asked the President.

"Yes," said Ring. "I want to be ambassador to Greece."

Purgittsville Child Burns To Death

Flames Destroy Farm Dwelling

PURGITTSVILLE, W. Va. — A four-year-old boy perished Tuesday when the farm home in which he lived was destroyed by fire. Killed was Roger Ervin Boyer, son of Samuel and Bertha (Mayhew) Boyer, who resided on a tenant farm near Purgittsville in Hampshire County, W. Va.

The fire was discovered about 2 p. m. by Mrs. Boyer who smelled smoke and then noticed that the ceiling of the living room was ablaze.

Received No Answer

Mrs. Boyer ran to the stairway to the second floor and called to see if anyone was upstairs. When no one answered she told authorities she assumed her three children at home were playing outside.

Mrs. Boyer then ran out and called her son, Allen, 19, and daughter, Mrs. Helen Hott, 18. The youngest child in the family of 12 children could not be located, but it was thought he was playing in the area.

Allen tried to make his way to the second floor of the home to make certain, but was forced back by the flames. He then ran to a neighbor's residence, Canby Smith, about 100 yards away to call the Romney Volunteer Fire Company. Allen returned to his home and hauled out a television set and refrigerator before he was forced to stop due to the danger of being trapped in the burning residence.

Father At Work

Hampshire County authorities said the father was at work at a stone quarry in Williamsport, W. Va., at the time of the blaze.

The Romney fire company was delayed in reaching the scene because of the icy highway. The home was leveled when they arrived, and after being informed that the young Boyer child might have been a casualty, the firemen wet down the embers and instituted a search.

The body of the boy was found beneath a mattress, and A. L. Russell, Hampshire County coroner, said the mattress probably saved the body from being destroyed.

Cause Not Certain

Exact cause of the fire has not been determined, although Boyer informed authorities that the wiring in the house was bad and could have caused the blaze by short-circuiting.

Surviving, besides the parents, brother and sister, are another brother, George Boyer, also at home, and eight other sisters. Mrs. Nina Brown, Cumberland; Mrs. Violet Timbrook, Burlington, W. Va.; and Misses Barbara Patricia, Lena, Margaret, Linda and Deborah Boyer, all at home; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bessie Mayhew, Romney, and paternal grandparents, Floyd Boyer of Paw Paw and Mrs. Myrtle Boyer, Springfield.

The body is at the Combs Funeral Home, Romney. Services will be conducted today at 2 p. m. at Ebenezer Methodist Church, Romney, by Rev. Ralph T. McCord and interment will be in the church cemetery.

Birth Announced

PIEDMONT — Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Baker, Murphy Street, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, January 21. Mrs. Baker was the former Virginia Biggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Biggs.

Money Needed Now On Pledges For Factory

$8,960 Outstanding With 61 People

FROSTBURG — A special appeal was made here yesterday to 61 people who have not yet fulfilled their pledges to buy stock in the Industrial Promotion Company for construction of the new undergarment plant.

According to David Willets, a total of $8,960 is still unpaid by these 61 people and the money is needed immediately to meet bills for materials. He said that if current bills for materials can be paid within the next few days, two per cent in discounts can be saved.

Howard Shuman, chairman, said a special effort is to be made to get this balance of the campaign fund collected at once and he hopes that those who made pledges will meet them promptly.

The community pledged a total of $60,000 in their community drive to bring the plant to Frostburg, he said, and most of the pledges have been converted to cash and stock certificates delivered.

Work on the building has progressed steadily despite cold weather, and it will be completed and occupied on schedule, thus bringing a new and regular payroll to Frostburg.

Jim Myers Is Named Head Grid Coach At Texas A&M

Student Body Helps Mentor Change Mind

New Athletic Head Sent Telegram With 2,229 Signatures

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Jan. 22 (AP)—Texas A&M College today did a complete turnaround and named Jim Myers of Iowa State as head football coach and athletic director.

"He's coming as soon as he can get out of the snow," President M. T. Harrington said in making the announcement.

He said Myers' salary will be $16,000 a year plus a rent-free house under a four-year contract which becomes effective Jan. 23.

Myers had been mentioned all day as the successor to Paul (Bear) Bryant, who resigned at the first of the year to return to Alabama, his Alma Mater.

The A&M Board of Directors last week had tabled a motion, 5-4, to hire Myers and tried to engage Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz. Myers heard about this move and at that time withdrew from consideration. Erdelatz then got out of the picture as fast as he had entered it.

Harrington said the board pledged unanimous support to Myers but during the afternoon four board members left, including supporters of Erdelatz for the job.

Two hours passed before Harrington made his announcement. Undoubtedly responsible for helping change Myers' mind and that of the Board of Directors was the work of students organized by Gary Rollins from Houston, sports editor of the student newspaper, The Battalion. He masterminded an 80-foot telegram carrying 2,229 signatures which was sent to Myers asking him to reconsider.

Stayed With Myers
With Cadet Col. John Hagler of Lagrange, Tex., Rollins traveled Sunday to Ames, Iowa, and they stayed with Myers until their return this morning.

Rollins had aid from All-America halfback John Crow, who said he telephoned board member Jack Finney of Greenville, Tex., and told him the boys wanted Myers. Finney confirmed he received the call but would not elaborate.

In Ames, Myers, 36, said he decided to accept A&M's offer because "they were so persistent."

He acknowledged that the telegram and visit of two Texas A&M students last weekend were partly responsible for getting him to change his mind.

"It's nice to be wanted," he said. "They have tremendous student support."

Myers said the "opportunity is better than it was." He added he thought the move was better for his family and his coaching staff.

Myers said he planned to leave for Texas as soon as he gets the furniture packed. He hopes to leave later this week.

Boyd And Mims Battle To Draw

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP)—Chicago's Bobby Boyd and ring-winner Holly Mims of Washington battled to a 10-round draw tonight.

Boyd was floor for the mandatory eight-count in the eighth round.

Mims, fighting for the first time since last April 19, came on strong in the later rounds and was sharper with the fewer punches he landed.

The veteran of 10 years of ring warfare frequently tied up the younger Boyd but couldn't find the companion of the hard right to the jaw that sent Boyd to the canvas midway in the eighth.

Boyd, 2½ to 1 favorite, sent looping rights and lefts to Mims' head but they didn't slow up the rugged Washington fighter, who clinched frequently and worried Boyd with his arm-lock tactics.

Referee Eddie Cochran and Judge Eddie Thall called the fight even while judge Barry Pearlman saw it 96-94 for Boyd. The Associated Press card had it even.

ABC Team Entries Are Closed Early

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 22 (AP)—The American Bowling Congress announced today that for the first time in the 55-year history of the ABC tournament, team entries have been closed ahead of the deadline.

Entries for a few scattered doubles and singles openings will be accepted through Feb. 11—which originally was the team deadline—said Frank K. Baker, executive secretary of the ABC.

Baker said that 5,421 entries have been processed, making the 1953 tournament, which opens March 29 at Syracuse, N.Y., for a 72-day run the 11th largest on record.

The record team entry was 8,180 at Chicago in 1953, when the tournament ran 93 days.

Dukes Are Victors

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22 (AP)—Duquesne University tonight handed seggins Toledo its sixth straight basketball loss, 67-54, encountering little difficulty in posting its seventh victory.

AGGIES COACH — Jim Myers, head football coach at Iowa State College, yesterday accepted the position of athletic director and head football coach at Texas A&M College. He replaces Paul (Bear) Bryant, signing a four-year contract for $16,000 per year.

Moose Takes City Cage Lead 66-55

Second Half Rally Defeats Germans

The Cumberland Moose cagers took over undisputed first place in the City Basketball League last night with a 66-55 triumph over the Old Germans on the Carver School floor.

The victory was the seventh in eight league games for the Moose while the Old Germans tasted defeat for the second time within the past week.

The league's leading scorer, Center Don Moran of the Old Gees, increased his margin over Fritz Showers of the Moose, with 19 points before Moran fouled out of the game with 4½ minutes remaining. Showers contributed 13 points to the winning Moose margin.

The losers, with only seven players in uniform, were handicapped in the latter stages of the game when Hoppy Crabtree and Jimmy Eckard both fouled out in the third period. With only five men left, the Old Gees were forced to play the final 4½ minutes with four players when Moran exited on personals. The Moose quint was leading 54-50 when Moran committed his fifth personal.

The Old Germans hopped off to a 5-1 first quarter lead and hung on for a 12-11 edge at the close of the stanza. They increased the margin to 30-17 with a nine-point spurt in the second quarter before George McGregor brought the Moose to a 32-21 intermission score with a pair of quick fielders.

McGregor, Donnie Madden and Showers combined to lead the Moose attack which gave the winners a 51-40 margin at the end of the third period. Don Lyla and Showers collaborated with a pair of three-point plays to put the Moose ahead for the first time at 45-40. Goals by McGregor and Showers and a pair of fouls by Madden closed out the third period spurt for the Moose.

Moran boosted his league-leading total of points to 206 last night while Showers now has 184 for the Moose.

McGregor was the top gun for the Moose with 20 points on six goals and 8-12 at the foul line.

Spirit Of Team In Pro Football Amazes Brown

Can't Make Mistake NFL Rookie States

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—What's the difference between college and pro football?

"It's like running a movie slow motion and then fast," said Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's all-pro fullback. "In the pro game you have to be quick all the time."

"In college ball you can miss a play and the team won't get hurt badly by it. In the pro league there are no weak sisters. You might make one mistake — and whoosh—the other team has a touchdown."

An All-America at Syracuse University in 1956, Brown, a strapping 6-2, 225-pounder from Manhasset, N.Y., hit the top with the pros in his first season. He was named rookie, back and player of the year in the National Football League in the AP poll.

What was the thing that surprised him most in the pro ranks?

"The spirit," said Jimmy. "I had heard rumors that there wasn't much spirit and the players didn't go all out. That's not so, believe me. There's no loafing. If you did, you'd get it. The competition is keen for places on the team."

"You've got to consider a player's pride, too. He doesn't want to look badly. There are fellows sitting on the bench. They don't want to sit there if they can help it. They want to play."

"The team spirit is very high. The defensive team cheers the offensive team and vice versa."

"They play hard and rough but not dirty. Sure there's an occasional dirty play. But you got that in college ball, too."

"Another surprise to me was the attitude of the veterans toward the rookies. I had heard the old guys were real tough on the new ones who were after their jobs."

"They give you a good ribbing and you have to be able to take it. But the fellow who helped me most was Ed Modzelewski and I took his job. And he helped me all season."

Allegany-LaSalle Contest Seats Will Be Reserved

All seats at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium for the Allegany-LaSalle basketball contest, Friday night will be reserved. Brother Thomas, athletic director for the Explorers, announced last night.

The clash between the two city teams will be their first season. LaSalle defeated Fort Hill, 80-52, on Tuesday, and the Sentinels turned back Allegany, 56-45, last Friday in other city encounters.

The unbeaten Explorers, coached by George Geatz, will be heavily favored to whip the Campers for their 13th consecutive win. Coach Chat Payne's Aleo quint, sporting a 6-4 record, hope to upset the Explorers' drive for an unblemished season.

George Visnovsky and Ray Grimm, Johnstown, Pa., area officials will handle the main event which begins at 8 p. m. The Jayvee squads of both schools meet in a 6:45 p. m. preliminary.

Tickets for the game are now on sale at both schools and Wilson Hardware Company.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 — (INS) — Los Angeles fans are going to see a veritable orgy of homerun hitting and scoring in the Coliseum, new home of the erstwhile Brooklyn Dodgers, if the fears of the National League pitchers are justified.

The pitchers, especially the left handers, look with horror at the proposed Coliseum layout, where it will be only 250 feet down the left field foul line.

The Dodgers with such righthanded power hitters as Roy Campanella, Gil Hodges, Charlie Neal, Carl Furillo, Gino Cimoli and Jim Gilliam, always had a big bulge on other clubs when playing at Ebbets Field, where it was 297 feet down the left field line.

While in New York last week Jimmy Foxx, one of the greatest of all right handed hitters, said he could have bunted a homer if he had a 250-foot target when he was terrorizing American League throwers.

We haven't heard of any squawks about the right field line where it will be 300 feet down the foul line in the Coliseum compared with 297 feet in Brooklyn.

Dodger proxy Walter O'Malley is talking of putting up a 40-foot screen in left field, but that won't prevent a lot of cheap homers from dropping over the screen.

There always was a high screen running from the right field foul line all the way to dead center in Brooklyn, but that didn't prevent the Dodgers' Duke Snider and the Cardinals' Stan Musial from belting many a homer over the screen every year.

Parks have been getting smaller since Babe Ruth hit his record 60 homers in 1927. Commissioner Ford Frick to the contrary, we think there is real danger that one of the Dodgers might surpass that mark this year.

Should that happen we might just as well discard all the records, or list them under a B.C. (Before Coliseum) heading and A.C. (After Coliseum) for the new marks yet to be made.

We expect to see fewer triples in the Coliseum than there were in Ebbets Field, but we feel sure there will be a record number of doubles rattling off those handy fences.

Screw ball and sinker ball pitchers should do best in the Coliseum, because it is harder to lift such pitches into the air. A pitcher like Cy Moore of the 1927 Yanks, who had the greatest sinker we ever saw, wouldn't have been hurt much in the Coliseum.

But woe to the pitcher who throws them in high. He's in for trouble. And speaking of trouble, we wonder if the Phillies will ever start that most generous of homerun throwers — Robin Roberts — in the Coliseum?

Bob Hazle Returns Contract Unsigned

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 2 (INS)—Bob Hazle, the rookie sensation whose timely batting helped boost the Milwaukee Braves to their first national league pennant, said today he returned his 1958 contract unsigned.

Hazle declined to say what the world champions offered or what salary he wants but declared during a long distance phone call: "We shouldn't be too far apart, and I know we won't have any trouble when I come to Milwaukee next week."

Hazle will be in Milwaukee Jan. 30 to receive an award as Braves' rookie of the year.

The flashing light from the tail of a firefly is a luminous love call with which it finds its mate.

It takes a GIANT to feed a family of 170,500,000

Getting food to 170,500,000 people in over 49,500,000 U. S. households is a job of giant proportions. Yet the country's 401,000 grocery retailers, large and small, do it every day . . . and do it so effectively and in such volume, that we are the best fed people on earth.

Your local food store operator's never-ending search for new and better ways to fill your market basket is one reason why you enjoy the best, the freshest food possible at the lowest possible price.

It's also the reason why grocery retailers spend more money in newspapers than in any other advertising medium . . . well over $162,000,000 in 1956. They have found that the daily newspaper is the most effective and efficient way to keep you informed of products and prices.

To satisfy a hunger for news of people, places and products, people buy over 58,000,000 brand new, freshly made copies of the daily newspaper every day. Because the newspaper is the natural, logical place for America to shop, it's the natural, logical place to advertise.

If you have anything to sell, make sure it's seen. More people will see it in the newspaper than anywhere else.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Don't Wait To Lose Weight

Once your weight has come down to the proper level, it's easier to keep down than you think.

One of the delightful surprises that comes with arriving at your correct weight is the realization that you're set that way more positively than you hoped. A good diet trains your appetite — it doesn't stop short at reducing you. If it's the kind that's a guide to scientific eating rather than merely a starvation program, appetite develops naturally for the good-for-you foods on it. You like them and like the way you feel so much that it's no effort to stick to them even when quantities and variety can be safely increased. You simply won't have much inclination to take on the extra load of extra heavy food that used to make you feel over-stuffed.

Now this is the kind of encouragement that dieters often tell me they wish they'd had before they started dieting. It wasn't until afterward that they had any idea of how much their appetites could change. If they had, they say, they would have dieted sooner. The prospect wouldn't have looked so forbidding if it were plain that good effects would last a long time.

How about you? Are you still putting off your diet? Take the nearest pen in hand and write for "Your Beauty Diet," which has not only started so many women on their road to a trim figure but has been responsible for the improved eating habits that keep your figure that way. The diet booklet is yours for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to me at this newspaper.

Evangelist Is Sentenced For Breaking, Entering

City Police Probe Reports Of Enterings

City police yesterday were checking reports of four break-ins and enterings, two larceny reports and one vandalism case.

The Hi Dee Bar on North Mechanic Street reported someone attempted to get into the building by a rear window. The intruder, Edward Belfoure reported, partially pulled off a screen and raised the window several inches before giving up the attempt.

Reported entered overnight was the Edward F. Mullen Company property at 139 Union Street.

Police were told the intruder started a payload being used to raze a nearby building, ran it into an alley and wedged it there and then climbed the building, entering by the third floor and descending by an elevator shaft. Police were told paint or painting supplies could have been taken.

Mrs. Margery Ravenscroft, Route 2, Frostburg, reported the loss of a wallet containing $20 at the Salvation Army Citadel on North Mechanic Street. She told police she placed the wallet on a table and that someone in a group of six persons could have picked it up.

Police said an intruder at the Walton Shell service station made off with candy, cakes, cigars, a March of Dimes container and $130 in pennies from the cash register.

The intruder entered by breaking a glass section in the front door.

Lacy's Market was also entered, but nothing was reported missing. The vandal entered by breaking glass in a rear door.

The vandalism case was reported at the Queen City Dairy when officers found milk scattered all over the ground in the dairy's parking lot.

Police said someone used a lug wrench to get into a milk truck and then scattered the milk. Damage was estimated at $25.

Suit Is Filed Over Estate

A suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court in behalf of a grandchild of a man who died in 1954 without leaving a will in which she seeks to regain one-seventh of the man's estate from his other heirs.

Victoria Edith Bittinger, a minor, through Bertha C. Lease, her mother and next friend, brought the suit against Luther A. Bittinger, Robert Lee Bittinger, William E. Bittinger, Evelyn L. Galford, Marie T. Rowe and Bernard Nichols, guardian of Pauline Nichols, Clarence Nichols, Peggy Nichols and Mathilda Nichols.

The declaration which was filed by Attorney Clarence Lippe, states that Adam L. Bittinger died June 9, 1954, without a will and leaving six children and five grandchildren. Attorneys William L. Wilson and James S. Getty were appointed administrators of the estate which totaled $4,104.60.

Frank C. Bittinger, one of the elder Bittinger's six children, left Allegany County in 1943 and has been unheard of since then. The minor plaintiff in this suit, the missing man's daughter, contends that she should have been given one-seventh of Adam Bittinger's estate, or $580.51, which instead was shared equally by the defendants as a result of an Orphans Court order.

As a result she seeks damages of $700 from the various defendants.

Also filed Tuesday was a damage suit and its compromise settlement for $1,385.25. Charles W. Kiser, an infant, by William B. Kiser and Betty M. Kiser, his parents and next friends, brought the suit against Agnes D. Bartlett, Charles G. Bartlett and Howard A. Benson.

Young Kiser contends that he was a passenger in an automobile which was being driven by Benson west on U. S. Route 40 near its intersection with Naves Crossroad. At the same time Charles Bartlett was driving a car belonging to Agnes Bartlett south on Christie Road. They collided in an accident last May 9, which Kiser contends was the fault of both drivers.

HINTON, W. Va., Jan. 22 (AP)—A Summers County Circuit Court jury of 10 men and two women deliberated an hour and 16 minutes today before convicting Evangelist Clarence (Tiz) Jones of breaking and entering the O. R. Grinnett Motor Co. building here.

Judge Nickell Kramer imposed sentence of one to 10 years in the State Penitentiary together with an additional five years under terms of the state's habitual criminal act. Jones was convicted and sentenced in Braxton County in 1947 for a prior offense.

The judge granted a 60-day stay of execution to permit the defense time to prepare an appeal. Jones was released on $3,000 bond pending the outcome of the appeal.

The 41-year-old Jones is presently fighting a Monroe County conviction where he was sentenced one to 15 years last Nov. 9 for breaking and entering an Alderson store.

Judge Kramer will enter a formal order on the sentence tomorrow. He is expected to say then whether the sentences will run concurrently or whether one will follow the other.

Jones who calls Dunbar his home, received a directed verdict of acquittal last September on the Grinnett charge. The verdict was based on the technicality that the indictment was faulty because it wrongly stated the ownership of the Grinnett establishment.

Judge Kramer told Jones today he would not consider the Monroe County conviction because the alleged offense there was committed after the one at Hinton.

"I don't propose at this time to sentence you to life imprisonment for I am not in accord with that statute," Judge Kramer told Jones.

Under the state's habitual criminal statute, three felony convictions would mean life imprisonment.

Personnel Group To Meet Tonight

The monthly meeting of the recently organized Potomac Valley Personnel Association will be held today at 6:15 p. m. at the Cumberland Country Club.

This evening's meeting will be in the form of a "get-acquainted" session. Dan R. Staley, personnel manager of the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulper and Paper Company, is president of the association.

bezzlement. Three other counts of embezzlement and one of larceny after trust were dismissed by the state.

The defense did not use any witnesses in the case. State witnesses were George Caswell, vice president of the Second National Bank, and Mr. Lilya. Lilya read the statement made by Yankelevitz in connection with the case.

In summing up the case before the jury, Milton Gerson, attorney for Yankelevitz, said the facts in the case were undisputed. He said his client had an arrangement with the bank whereby freezers were financed at the bank and Yankelevitz received payment for the freezers with five per cent of the total being held in a reserve account.

Gerson said that five freezers were repossessed and Yankelevitz had approximately $5,000 in the reserve account. He asked the jury to take the $3,200.15 due from the resale of the freezers from this reserve account but it would not do so.

Gerson said that "there may be a civil case involved, but I doubt it."

The attorney also said the contract for the sale of the freezers stated that in repossession the charge was to be made to the reserve account.

James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney, said Yankelevitz had resold the repossessed freezers but had converted the money to his own use instead of making payment to the bank. Getty also said Yankelevitz had financed three of the freezers at a Keyser bank when he resold them. One freezer is unaccounted for and another was sold to a refrigerator service man with the purchase price credited to a bill Yankelevitz owed the service man.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher in the final summation termed the transaction "downright embezzlement." He also said the reserve account to Yankelevitz's credit at the Second National Bank had nothing to do with the case at hand.

Fletcher said the repossessed freezers were the property of the bank and Yankelevitz was an agent of the bank when he made the sale of these devices. He should have turned over the sale price to the bank and not kept it for himself, Fletcher told the jurors.
